

Results general overview

The NORAH study provided scientifically sound findings on the effects of traffic noise on health, well-being and quality of life.